THE RAGING WATERS.

Great Loss of Property in Tennessee.

Arkansas, Mississippi and Missouri.

Reports from parts of Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Missouri.

to the effect that the rain has been general, the whole country being flooded.

and much property is being lost.

Hundreds of acres of the best farming lands are inundated, and the damage done hardly is accurately estimated.

All the houses along the big rivers are under water and the country is a vast sea.

The great Morgan river in Point Coupee Parish, La., is damaged and will flood all the country between it and the Gulf.

This levee broke in 1894 and caused some $100,000,000 damage, cutting down the sugar crop of the State materially.

All farm work has been abandoned in the flooded district and all stock not already drowned has been driven to the hills for safety.

Railroad traffic at some places is wholly abandoned, the water being several feet deep over their tracks for miles.

The waters are still rising and further serious damage seems inevitable.

There is more catfish in this section of the country than at other times.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and by persistently failing to cure with local treatment, it became incurable.

Science has proved catfish to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
